CHARLEROI HIGH WINS FIRST PLACE IN MEET

Local Boys Overbalance Monessen High School Athletes

MEDALS GIVEN WINNERS

College Time Made in the 220 Yard Run, and Association Record is Broken.

The Charlreoi High School won the annual High School Field meet on the local baseball grounds Saturday afternoon, de feating the Monessen High School track team by the score of 61 to 43 points. One association record was broken, that by Shaner Blythe, of the Charleroi High School in the 220 yard dash, who completed the course in 23 3-5 seconds. The other best record, run last year was 25 seconds.

The following is the result of the field meet: First place except in the relay race was scored five points three for second, two for third, and one for fourth. In the relay race first place was accorded 10 points, and second six points. Gold, silver and bronze medals were given the individual winners, while the team winner was presented with the field meet pennant. This is the third consecutive season that the Charleroi High School has carried off first honors. The winners are given in the order in which they finished.

In the tally, M. is for Monessen and C. for Charleroi.

Standing broad jump—Myers, M. Kistler, C, Mitchell, M, Crabb, C. Distance 9 feet.

50-yard dash—Blythe, C., Mitchell, M. Myers, M, Nutt, C. Time 6 seconds.

Shot put—Primas, C, Clutter, C, Chester, C, Herron, M. Distance 31 feet 10 inches.

100 yard dash—Blythe, C, Clutter, C, Mitchell, M, Lermann, M. Time 11 seconds.

100-yard dash (open)--Wilson, C, Thomas, C. Time 11 seconds.

Running broad jump—Manown, M, Baker, M, Harry M, Leathers, M. Distance 16 feet 7 1-4 inches.

220 yard dash—Blythe, C, Miethell, M, Clutter, C, Primas, C. Time 23 3-5 seconds.

High jump—Obdert, M, McLain, C, Wagner, M, Malcolm, C. Height, 4 feet 10 inches.

Pole vault—Kistler, C, Carson, C, Richards C, McLain C, Height 9 feet 2 inches.

Half Mile Relay—Charleroi team first, Blythe, Primas, Stahlman, Clutter, Monessen team second, Mitchell, Lerman, Baker, Ferren. Time 1:50.

By the above table it will be noticed that Charleroi took all honors in the pole vault. The four members of this team tied in the first contest and after the field meet contested for honors with the results as shown above. The meet record was 8 feet 2 inches high.

The referee was George W. Might, of Charleroi; the judges were W. S. Duncan, H. C. Herple, Monessen, and C. S. Batman, Charlefoi, timers, Edwin W. Patton, of Charleroi, and C. J. Tannehill of Monessen; and the starter was Dr. G. H. Smith of Charlreoi.

Next Convention to be Held Here

C T. A. U. Will Convene in Charleroi on June 9 in Monthly Meeting

Partial arrangements were made yesterday at the monthly convention of the Catholic Total Abstinence Union of the Pittsburg Diocese, at Irwin, for the holding of the next convention in Charleroi, June 9. At this convention the Rt. Rev. J. F. Regis Canevin, bishop of the Pittsburg diocese, will preside. Charles Fries went from Charleroi yesterday as a delegate to the Irwin convention.

HOSPITAL BENEFIT

Baseball Game Being Arranged Between Elks and Eagles Teams

Once again the baseball fans of Charleroi and vicinity will have the opportonity of seeing the "has-beens" in the part of ball-playing, as there is to be a game played in the near future between a picked nine from the Elks and one from the Eagles lodges, the proceeds to go to the Monessen-Charleroi hospital. S. C. Todd of the Elks and Henry Wagner of the Eagles will be busy for the next few days trying out the members in order to get the best material in both lodges, and as soon as the lineup is completed the names of each player and his past record on the diamond will be published.

Col. A. P. Stewart will act as umpire, as he seems to be the only man who was able to hold them down the last time they crossed bats on the field, and while most of his decisions were rotten, he was able to—make them stand with the help of a Smith and Wesson. Those who saw the game last year claim it was as good as a circus and that tickets should bring $5.00.

NEW AUDITORS APPOINTED FOR 1909 ACCOUNTS

Following the example of his colleague J. K. Mitchell, one of the county auditors who presented his resignation to the court last week, W. J. Anderson, the other majority auditor, did likewise, and his resignation was also accepted by the court. To fill the vacancy the court on Saturday appointed J. F. Bristor and J. K. Weir. The accounts of the county yet remain to be audited from the first of 1909 to October 1 of the same year, the time when County Controller Moffitt assumed control. C. R. Tilton, the minority auditor, has refused to audit the accounts, on the claim that the office of controller was unconstitutional. As the court sustained the act Mr. Tilton has not yet signified his intentions.

VIEWERS MEET TODAY TO ASSESS DAMAGES

Farmers Ask That Coal Company Reimburse Them for Causing Ground to Sink, Injuring Farms.

The viewers appointed some time ago by the court to assess damages alleged done by the Pittsburg and Westmoraland Coal company to farms in the vicinity of the Schoenberger mines, are making the view today, and will file their report with the court tomorrow. The Schoenberger mines are near Donora, and it is of farms, where it is alleged great damage has been done by sinking in of the ground, that remuneration is claimed.

The viewers are Dr. E. E. French, Dr. A. N. Booth, J. E. Richardson, R. A. Johnston, William Headley, W F. Rison, J. A Wright, Charles McCormick, W. S. Holliday, J. G. McCormick and J. A. Huffman, all of Bentleyville.

Several farmers have banded, together, it is stated, in asking that damages be assessed.

REV. FRONTZ PREACHES SERMON TO GRADUATES

Class of 1910, Charleroi High School, Hears Baccalaureate at Christ Lutheran Church Last Night.

At Christ Lutheran church last night the baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class of ten members, Charleroi High School, was preached by the pastor of the church, Rev. Chalmers E. Frontz. The class occupied with Superintendent James G Pentz, of the schools, and the three High School teachers, Principal J. R. Huston, Prof. George H. Cheeseman and Miss Mary Walters, two rows of seats near the front on the left side. The church was filled with friends and parents of the graduates.

Rev. Frontz chose as his theme "Grateful Acknowlegement of the Ages." He spoke of education in the olden times, of how the noted characters of Biblical times received their instructions and how they imparted it to others. He said that it was due to each member of the graduating class to become a leader, instead of a follower, and that this being true, it was best to always have the highest ideals.

In his final utterances, Rev. Frontz told the members of the class that this was only the beginning. He besought them to work hard to accomplish much, and predicted if they did so much success in the battle to come.

MOTHER OF CHARLEROI MERCHANT DIES AT HER HOME IN BROWNSVILLE

Mrs. Margaret Newcomer, 65 years old, the wife of Hamilton Newcomer, died at her home on Water street, South Brownsville, Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock. The funeral was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock, from the late home, and interment followed in the Redstone cemetery. Mrs. Newcomer is survived by her husband and seven children, one of the latter being C. R. Newcomer, a prominent shoe dealer of Charleroi. Others are E. N. Newcomer, of Redstone, H. L. Newcomer at home, Mrs. Charles Crawford and Mrs. Charles Stewart of Luzerne; Mrs. Matthew Storey, South Brownsville, and Miss Lottie at home. Mrs. Newcomer was a member of the Central Presbyterian church, of South Brownsville, the pastor of which, Rev. Charles R. Harmon, officiated at the funeral.

MANY ACCEPTANCES TO ALUMNI BANQUET HAVE BEEN RECEIVED

Several acceptances to the High School alumni banquet to be held at the Monier Hotel Thursday evening, have been recieved by the committee arranging the affair, and the present indications are that there will be a larger gathering of graduates at the affair than ever before at any similar affair. The members of the 1910 class who will receive their diplomas on Wednesday evening will be honor guests.

STARS DEFEAT TEAM FROM MONONGAHELA

The Charleroi Stars defeated the Monongahela Untied Presbyterian team on the latter's grounds, Saturday afternoon by a score of 2 to 1. The score:

CHURCH GIVES UP PROJECT TO BUILD FOR TIME BEING

St. Jerome's Congregation will Increase Amount in Building Fund

ENTERTAINMENT PLANNED

Various Societies of Church will Take Turns in Holding Benefit Affairs

Rev. W. D. Fries of St. Jerome's Catholic congregation yesterday announced to his congregation that the proposed new church building would not be constructed this year. It was intended to have work started on the superstructure of the building some time this month, or about the first of June.

The reason for the giving up of the plans for the construction of the upper part of the church at the present time is that the treasury is not in as good shape as it will be at some future time. The project was not considered advisable just now.

The Knights of Columbus will within a short time give an entetainment, the proceeds to go to the building fund, and this entertainment will be followed by others given by other societies of the church. In this way it is hoped to raise the surplus in the treasury so that the building project will not be greatly delayed.

COMMITTEE WILL MAKE REPORTS AT MEETING TUESDAY

Everybody is invited to the meeting tomorrow night to be held in the council chamber at 8 o'clock when a report of all committees who have been appointed on the Fourth of July celebration will be heard, and it is hoped that all who can will make an effort to be there. At this time the finance committee will make a report, and all other committees will be instructed as to what will be expected of them. Other committees will be appointed, and the presence is needed of every citizen in the town, not only at this meeting, when all can offer suggestions, but each day every one can boost Charleroi and the big Fourth she is going to have. Every one can help some and the town needs that strong pull together at this time in order to make the occasion all that has been aimed for it.

Already the advertising committee has sent word all over the county asking the people to come to the town on the Fourth where they do things and Charleroi can't afford to disappoint them when they come. All promises will be fulfilled if every citizen will lend a helping hand and it is to be hoped all who are interested in the town's wellfare will come to this meeting.

Many Enjoy Day at Eldora Park

Louhi Band Gives First Sunday Concert, and Good Crowd is Attracted

Many took advantage of a visit to Eldora Park yesterday, when it was open for the first Sunday during the season. The Louhi band of Monessen furnished special music during the afternoon and evening, and the weather being exceptionally fine, those who were at the pleasure resort had a day of much enjoyment.

MANY SEE THE COMET

Was Plainly Visible to the Naked Eye Early Last Evening

Many Charleroi people got a view of the comet last night for the first time since its appearance. The comet appeared in the western sky, and was best seen about 9 o'clock in the evening. Many parties made trips on the hill where they were easily able to distinguish the visitor with the naked eye. It is expected that tonight will be a particularly good evening to see the comet, although it and the earth are saying their last good-byes. Tonight it will be best seen about 9 o'clock although it rises at 8:30 o'clock. An eclipse of the moon will aid in dimming the sky so that the light from Halley's phenonmenon will show plainly. The comet cannot be well seen from down town.

MEMORIAL SERVICES AT EPISCOPAL CHURCH

Rev. L. W. Shey, pastor of St. Mary's Episcopal church yesterday morning conducted memorial srevices for the late King Edward VII of England. Special prayers were offered for the bereaved nation, and Rev. Shey preached a sermon on the life of the late ruler. The church was draped in mourning. In several other Charleroi pulpits prayers were offered for the bereaved nation.

How to Secure Highest Quality.

It only requires domestic rosin, benzine, any kind of so called linseed oil, with ordinary skill to make a varnish that is beautiful when fresh.

But to get the same beauty in material that will at the same time be lasting, requires skill in the making and more expensive material.

It makes but one kind—the beautiful—durable kind. You will find it at T. P. Grant's. CHI-NAMEL. 104

Kennedy's Inconsistency.

J. L. Kennedy, who is opposing Congressman J. K. Tener for the renoimnaton for Congress, announces that he is a Republican, thoroughly in sympathy with and in favor of the Roosevelt policies At the same time he anatamatizes what he calls "Cannonism." In other words he woulh have the voters believe that he is an insurgent, who will vote and work with the Democratc party to oppose and embarrass President Taft's administration.

In order to gain support Mr. Kennedy insinuates that he is not in accord with Presient Taft's policies and is therefore only half a Republican.

Here is where Mr. Kennedy shows his inconsistency and unreliability. He professes to be for the Roosevelt policies and opposed to "Cannonism," notwithstanding that President Roosevelt relied solely upon Speaker Cannon as his whip to put his policies through. Without the big sitck of Uncle Joe President Roosevelt's big stick was insufficent to put through his measures that the people so much admire. President Taft's policies are but a continuation of President Roosevelt's policies. The latter blazed the way, and the former is endeavoring to carry them out all along the line. If the Republican party is to dominate, the country does not want a Represenative who openly announces that he will play into the hands of the enemy.

ELECTRIC SPARKS

It is not only sore arms that come to a woman from carpet beating. Sometimes she contracts the sore throat from telling about it.

It is stated that Jack Johnston has agreed not to take his automobile into the ring when he meets Jeffries, but he will likely have it convenient so he can use it to be hauled away in.

AN AUTHOR'S START.

When Marion Crawford Began His Career as an Author.

Marion Crawford I had known since he was a lad of fourteen years. I, too, was a youngster in those days. We were living in a New Jersey town and he came there to visit his aunt, Mrs. Adolphe Maillard, a sister of Mrs. Julia Ward Howe. Although he came from Italy he dressed as an English lad, with high hat, Eton jacket, wide collar and long trousers. You can imagine the sensation that he made in that quiet New Jersey town. We had had kings and princes as our neighbors, but a young boy in a high hat was unknown to us and therefore much more of a novelty. From those days, which were filled with youthful escapades, I did not see Frank Crawford, as he was then called, until he was a full growu man and had knocked about the world a bit. His uncle, the well known Sam Ward, brought him to the office of the Critic, then consisting of a single small room over Daniell's dry goods store in Broadway, New York. "This lad wants to be a writer," said his Uncle Sam. "I wish that you would give him a chance to learn the business." We gave him the chance, not only for old times' sake, but because we liked his looks. "That fellow can do anything he cares to," I remarked after he left the office. So we let him write. He wrote book reviews, editorials and even poetry, and after that he wrote "Mr. Isaacs." You know the rest. From that on it was easy enough. He won out and we knew that, though we had given him the chance he wanted at the time that he wanted it, he would have found it quick enough anywhere else. But he never forgot what he chose to regard as a favor.—Jeannette L. Gilder in Putnam's.

ONE BUSINESS REFORM.

Brought About by Frank Statements From Former Employees.

If the manager of a business institution knew all that his employees know about the details of the business many things would be different. The manager of a large mercantile house recently conceived the idea of writing a personal letter to every employee who had left the house during the last five years, inviting a frank statement of the reason for leaving. The former employees, now expecting neither censure nor favor, were very frank and explicit and, as a rule, wrote letters that could not fail to command respectful attention. One man told how hard he had worked to support his mother and how, when he asked for an increase, he was shifted back and forth between different superiors for several weeks without having his request rejected or acceded to and he grew tired and sought another position. Another told of the impositions of the department manager and of his inability to get relief from a nagging disposition which was taking the heart out of hundreds of other men in his department. Many points of obvious mismanagement were brought to light which had virtually driven away good men who had been educated to the business. The manager has been busy ever since instituting reforms based upon the information he received.—Collier's Weekly.

The Picturesque Cowboy.

I recall one picture by a celebrated artist of the east who does western things. It depicts a "cowboy at Rest." He is lying on his stomach in the sun, his chin in his hands. His horse stands nearby, with the reins thrown over the horn of the saddle. Now, a cowboy in the daytime, well filled with beans and canned tomatoes, would not lie thus, and, above all, he would not leave his horse standing thus. He would pull the reins down over the horse's head and let them hang, elsewise his cowhorse would depart. I recall yet another picture of a faithful cowpuncher who with his trusty rifle defends himself from behind his dead horse, which he uses as a fortress. The dead horse is about four feet and a half through sidewise—excellent for a fortress, but a trifle wide for a thin flanked cowhorse. It would be useless to point out any detail like this to any earnest artist of today. Worse than useless would it be to suggest that a cowpuncher is the laziest created thing, for in art he must do perpetual stunts of "action."—Collier's Weekly.

Horse Sense.

A horse is so constructed by nature that he has no desire to do anything which will injure his health. He walks around whatever is not good for him and without a struggle. But man is so constructed that whatever is not good for him he wants to do. He eats too much, and he eats too fast. He drinks while eating, and there is nothing proper that he does without an effort. Why this distinction in favor of a horse? It may be said that a horse has only instinct, while a man has reason, which he should use. It is a pity that man was not given more instinct and less reason.—Atchison Globe.

How He Manages Her.

Bacon—Which do you think is the gamiest fish? Egbert—Well, the black bass is the gamiest to catch, but the eel is the gamiest when it comes to getting it off the hook.—Yonkers Statesman.

HAY'S PREDICTION.

"I Expect to Be Comfortably Dead in 1908," He Wrote.

A very interesting letter referring to President Lincoln just after his first inauguration and written by John Hay is dated Washington, 1861, and says in part:

"If there is anything which more than all causes me to regret the intolerable press of business about the president's office it is the impossibility of answering the letters of my best friends. I have positively not had a moment's leisure since we arrived in this city. The throng of office seekers is absolutely fearful. They come at daybreak and still are coming at midnight.

"You know that in anything I can do you can command me, but you overrate my influence. Mr. Lincoln positively refuses to make any recommendations for positions in the department; he rejects the entreaties even of his most intimate friends and relatives."

In another letter, Washington, Dec 12, no year, Hay says:

"Walter Noyes was appointed on the recommendation of two Rhode Island senators, Burnside and Anthony. I did not pay McKinley's debts. I never called him William in my life, nor did he ever call me John. Our intercourse has always been of the most formal character. I have absolutely no claim on him for myself or friends."

And in another letter Hay writes from Washington:

"I am old, sick and busy, and I have not a moment at my disposition besides what is occupied by my daily tasks. * * * Do not talk about anything so ridiculous as my being a candidate for the presidency. I shall never hold an office after this, and I expect to be comfortably dead by 1908."

As will be recalled, Secretary Hay died July 1, 1905.—New York Times

Eluding the Officers.

Here is an amusing description of one of Balzac's periods of impecuniosity. Mery, the poet, a great friend of Balzac, was an inveterate gambler and rarely left the card table before daybreak. His way lay past the Cafe de Paris, and for four consecutive mornings he had met Balzac strolling leisurely up and down dressed in a pantalon a pieds (trousers not terminating below the ankle, but with feet in them like stockings) and frock coat with velvet facings. The second morning Mery felt surprised at the coincidence; the third he was puzzled; the fourth he could hold out no longer and asked Balzac the reason of these nocturnal perambulations roundabout the same spot.

Balzac put his hand in his pocket and produced an almanac showing that the sun did not rise before 3:50. "I am being tracked by the officers of the tribunal de commerce and obliged to hide myself during the day, but at this hour I am free and can take a walk, for as long as the sun is not up they cannot arrest me."

Milk on a Stick.

In winter time milk goes to the buyer in a chunk instead of a quart, says a Glasgow paper. The people in Siberia buy their milk frozen, and for convenience it is allowed to freeze about a stick, which comes as a handle to carry it by. The milkman leaves one chunk or two chunks, as the case may be, at the houses of his customers. The children in Irkutsk, instead of crying for a drink of milk, cry for a bite of milk. The people in winter time do not say, "Be careful not to spill the milk," but "Be careful not to break the milk." Broken milk is better than spilled milk, though, because there is an opportunity to save the pieces. A quart of frozen milk on a stick is a very formidable weapon in the hand of an angry man or boy, as it is possible to knock a person down with it. Irkutsk people hang their milk on hooks instead of putting it in pans, though, of course, when warm spring weather comes on they have to use the pans or pails as the milk begins to melt and drop down the hooks.

Yarmouth's Narrow Street.

Kitty Witches row, Great Yarmouth, can justly claim to be the narrowest street in the world, the entrance at one end being only twenty-nine inches and at the other fifty-six inches. It gives some idea of the width when one mentions that neighbors can shake hands and put out each other's candles across the street! Why these rows have been so constructed has given rise to a good deal of discussion. Some writers give the reason that when there was a very high tide the water might flow through them; others, in the event of an invasion they would prove an excellent means of defense or that the ground plans of the rows were suggested by the fishermen's nets, which, spread on the dunes to dry, had a narrow pathway left between them, which represented the rows. Yarmouth has 115 rows, and their total length exceeds seven miles, Kitty Witches being the most interesting and the narrowest of all.

Hard to Choose.

"Why can't she make a choice between her suitors?"

"Well, one of them is a press agent. His language is very attractive. But the other is a traveling salesman, and he treats her as if she were a big buyer."—Kansas City Journal.

Badly Expressed.

August Valentour For Assembly

In anouncing his candidacy for the State Assembly, August Valentour "shied his castor into the ring" of political preference without first consulting any of the so called leuders or factions of the party to which he has given allegiance since attaining manhood. Always a Rebublican of the most pronounced type by his disinterestedness and independence and force he has been a factor in shaping the policy of the party in this county, and has earned for himself the respect and prestige that goes with loyal and capable service in any cause.

Mr. Valentour has been a resident of Washington County for thirty-six years. He began life as a digger of coal, and by enterprise, economy and thrift he has risen step by step, until he has become one of the county's men of affairs.

His career has been one of continued progress and advancement. In 1874 Mr. Valentour entered the Walnut Hill mine at Midway and there dug coal for two years. He left the mine for farming and timbering in Fayette county, but soon returned to the mine again, this time also in the Panhandle district working as a miner until 1881. After spending two years in the cotton and timber industres of Mississippi he returned to McDonald July 4, 1883, was electted checkweighman by the miners of W. P. Rend's Laural Hill No. 1, later entered Jumbo from where he was dischargegd for interestng himself in the Fourth Pool miners who were then on a strike, by collecting money for the amelioration of their déstitute condition. At this time there was no organiaztion among the miners of this locality, the nearest lodge of Kights of Labor was at Imperial and Mr. Valentour identiefid himsef with it.

Following this discharge he left McDonald and found employment in a store in Shadyside, Pittbsurg. He was soon afterwards offered a position by J. D. Sauters, owner of the Briar Hill mine. This was accepted and in 1891 he secured a clothing and furnishing establishment in McDonald. He abandoned this and acquired the Donahoo bazar which now bears his name Appointed a notary public, Mr Valentour, because of his wide acquaintance, especially among the French and Beligans, was required to draw up a great many legal papers and documents. This led to much research in the laws of the State and Nation as well as a reading up of the laws of France and Belgium until he has become one of the best informed lay readers of law in this locality and his advice is sought and highly valued by the French and Belgian residents here and up the Monongahela river.

Mr. Valentour has always been prominently identified with public entreprises and with the upbuilding of McDonald. When the town was first incorporated he was elected to the borough council. Afterwards he served a term on the school board. He is at present a councilman, being the chairman of the police committee and a member of the street committee. He is also the party chairman of the first precinct of McDonald, where he resides.

Mr. Valentour does not come before the voters as a candidate for financial gain or personal aggrandizement, but for the common people whom he has for support and hopes to represent.

He would go to Harrisburg as a represenative of the county absolutely free from entanglements of a political nature. He is aggressively in favor of public improvements, especially good roads. The welfare of all who toil with their hands is very dear to him and legislation affecting the interests of mine workers will receive his profoundest attention if elected. He believes the greatest glory of State is the education of its people and he therefore is in favor of the best public school system obtainable.

A Woman's Greatest Joy.

Who is it can tell me the greatest joy that comes in a woman's life. Is it when she first wins a lover? Or becomes some good man's wife? Some say a woman's greatest joy—her first real taste of pleasure—is the clasp of tiny baby hands, the kiss of her new born treasure. But it's hard to know her true answer, for women have many minds, and the world is full of women whose likes are of many kinds; but there's one thing in this busy world that gives all women pleasure, they'll all say that Chi-Namel for woodwork is a treasure. It does not make the wrist tired to apply Chi-Namel Varnish—and there's no need to fear brush marks or laps on large surfaces. To one who has used the ordinary grades of varnish it's a wonder. All colors and all size packages. Sold by T. P. Grant. 4

WHEN THE CAT GOT MAD.

Her Digestion Wouldn't Work—Same Thing Happens to Humans.

Horace Fletcher of mastication fame talked recently to the New York League For Political Education about the influence of mental states upon digestion and left some people in greater despair than ever about the attainment of dietetic righteousness. For it is not enough to chew, it seems. One must also cultivate faith, hope and charity and cease to worry about one's rent. All this has been conclusively proved by the use of the X ray on cats. Pussy is allowed to get "good and hungry" Mr. Fletcher stated, and then she is permitted to eat as much as she wants of some food that she likes, the food being stained with a substance which doesn't detract from its flavor, but which renders it opaque to the X rays. She is now placed beneath the X rays, and, taking it for a fire, she stretches herself out in great content to digest her dinner, the course of which can be traced through the digestive apparatus by its opaqueness. Everything goes along smoothly until the attention of the cat is distracted. Then the process is delayed, but if the cat is annoyed and gets angry enough to spit it stops altogether and does not start again until a considerable time after the cat has regained its composure.

The moral is obvious. Avoid all perturbations of the spirit if you want your food to digest, even after you have chewed it. Mr. Fletcher seems to think that this is quite simple.

Hatred, Mr. Fletcher stated, is the most fatal of all the passions, hurting the hater infinitely more than the object against which it is directed, and millions of children, he is convinced, may have been killed by a sharp word spoken to the mother at breakfast, the mental disturbance curdling her milk and rendering it poisonous. But fortunately he does not consider it necessary to give oneself up to the business of digestion, as the cat does under the X rays.

"If you fletcherize," he said, "you can do the most strenuous physical and mental work immediately after eating."

East Indian Muslin Test.

A Madras physician was buying muslin for a turban in a department store.

"None of this is fine enough," he said. "In the turban I have on there are forty yards. But forty yards of this would give me a head like a saratoga trunk.

"Indian muslin is very, very fine. It must be fine enough to disappear if it is to pass our A1 test. The test is this: The muslin is spread on grass overnight. In the morning, when everything is dew drenched, if the muslin isn't practically identical with the dewy gossamer covering the lawns—in other words, if it isn't invisible—it is discarded and must be sold as 'seconds.'"—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

HE WAS NOT A FLINT.

He was riding homeward, comfortably seated and reading his paper. Being a trifle nearsighted he was applying himself even more closely to his paper than [illegible] passengers. Thus intent in the [illegible] was startled when a woman came up beside him and [illegible] heavily on the shoulder of the [illegible] exclaiming delightedly:

"Why, you old dear!"

He is a polite man and he got up. "A woman with that much nerve is entitled to a seat," he muttered to himself. "The [illegible] can [illegible] liberately indulge in [illegible] by [illegible] unresentfully. [illegible] embarrassment [illegible] to [illegible] that his good [illegible] on him.

By and by there was a vacant seat next to the one he had given up to the woman, and he sat down on it once more. The woman turned and looked at him amusedly. He could feel her gaze, even though he made a blind [illegible] being intensely interested in his paper. Pretty soon [illegible] woman [illegible] take the son of a total stranger and then sit there and laugh at him because he was such a mark.

Then the woman spoke to him. "Aren't you going to talk to me?" she asked.

He could stand her familiarity no longer. "Well, of all the!" He stopped right there when he looked around and recognized her. It was his wife!—Cleveland Leader.

MORE PINKHAM CURES

Added to the Long List due to This Famous Remedy.

Oronogo, Mo.—"I was simply a nervous wreck. I could not walk across the floor without my heart fluttering and I could not even receive a letter. Every month I had such a bearing down sensation, as if the lower parts would fall out. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done my nerves a great deal of good and has also relieved the bearing down. I recommended it to some friends and two of them have been greatly benefited by it."—Mrs. MAY MCKNIGHT, Oronogo, Mo.

Another Grateful Woman.

St. Louis, Mo.—"I was bothered terribly with a female weakness and had backache, bearing down pains and pains in lower parts. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound regularly and used the Sanative Wash and now I have no more troubles that way."—Mrs. AL. HERZOG, 5722 Prescott Ave., St. Louis, Mo.

Because your case is a difficult one, doctors having done you no good, do not continue to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. It surely has cured many cases of female ills, such as inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, indigestion, dizziness, and nervous prostration. It costs but a trifle to try it, and the result is worth millions to many suffering women.

A Physician's Faith in Tuberculosis Medicine

"Have used it in several cases of tubercular glands of the neck, with excellent results every time. In one case it cost me $50 for the girl was put on it only until she could arrange to be operated, and in a few short time an operation was not needed. I suppose your records are just a mine of gold. You know my faith in the medicine."

Eckman's Alterative is the "medicine" referred to. Original of above letter on file at office of Eckman Mfg. Co., Philadelphia.

Eckman's Alterative is good for all Throat and Lung troubles, and is on sale in Charleroi by W. F. Hennings and other druggists. It can also be obtained at, or procured by, your local druggist. Ask for Booklet of Cured Cases or write for evidence to the Eckman Laboratory, Phila., Pa.

Pertaining to Fish.

Blessings on thee, little man! Go a-fishing when you can. Never mind the teacher's rule not to run away from school. Take your hook and alder pole and then hunt the deepest hole where the wary troutlets hide by the canyon stream's side. You'll get licked at home, of course, and you'll suffer great remorse, but when daddy sees your string he'll gasp and say, "By jing!" and his rod and reel he'll snatch and start out to make a catch when your jacket he doth tan. Blessings on you, little man!—Los Angeles Express.

Clothes and the Man.

Man is in some sort a slave to his clothes, and there are many men who dislike wearing the same clothes on two consecutive days more particularly the necktie. For the last two or three things you look at when you meet a man are his eyes and his neckties. And there is a sort of undefinable consciousness in your face the morning world that your tie must be starched and clean and new. But to this end you must buy the cheapest and throw it away with your sins before going to bed.—London Chronicle.

One of Shaw's Criticisms.

"Before fame came to him," said a playwright, "that great rival of mine, George Bernard Shaw, wrote theatrical criticisms for the London Saturday Review. Now, those were criticisms indeed. Nobody could praise a good play so beautifully as this critic. Nobody could roast a bad play so tellingly. Listen. Here is a sample."

And the playwright read.

"I am in a somewhat foolish position concerning a play at the Opera Comique, whither I was bidden this day week. For some reason I was not supplied with a program, so that I never learned the name of the play. At the end of the second act the play had advanced about as far as an ordinary dramatist would have brought it five minutes after the first rising of the curtain, or, say, as far as Ibsen would have brought it ten years before that event. Taking advantage of the second interval to stroll out into the Strand for a little exercise, I unfortunately forgot all about my business and actually reached home before it occurred to me that I had not seen the end of the play. Under these circumstances it would ill become me to dogmatize on the merits of the work or its performance. I can only offer the management my apologies."

Our Conscience as a Guide.

We are not without a guide. God has given us a conscience that is to be our guide. The captain of a ship has beside him the faithful compass, his guide. We have to have with us in the voyage of life our conscience as a guide that by it we may reach our harbor, the home God has prepared for us after death.—Rev. Thomas R. McCoy, Roman Catholic, Boston.

Hope That Spurs Us On.

The price of not becoming a Christian is the loss of joy and hope. All life is lived by hope. The business man consoles himself for his present condition with the hope of future activity. We have much to contend with in this life, and it is the hope of resurrection and eternal life that spurs us to our best efforts. It is by that hope that we are able to give our best efforts in this life.—Rev. F. E. Dark, Baptist, Portland, Ore.

The Wolf In Disguise.

Once upon a time a wolf who was going after the farmer's chickens took the advice of a fox and disguised himself in sheep's clothing.

"For," said the fox, "if the dogs see you they will take you for a harmless lamb and let you pass."

When the disguised wolf was near the chicken house he heard the dogs bark and saw them running toward him at the top of their speed.

"I am a fool," said the wolf. "For now the dogs think I am a lamb and have no fear of me. I will change my mind, get out of this incumbering clothing and make a winning fight."

But before he could get the garment off the dogs were upon him and took his life.

Moral.—It is easier to change your mind than your clothing.—New York Herald.

MORE PINKHAM CURES

Added to the Long List due to This Famous Remedy.

Oronogo, Mo.—"I was simply a nervous wreck. I could not walk across the floor without my heart fluttering and I could not even receive a letter. Every month I had such a bearing down sensation, as if the lower parts would fall out. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done my nerves a great deal of good and has also relieved the bearing down. I recommended it to some friends and two of them have been greatly benefited by it."—Mrs. MAE MCKNIGHT, Oronogo, Mo.

Another Grateful Woman.

St. Louis, Mo.—"I was bothered terribly with a female weakness and had backache, bearing down pains and pains in lower parts. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound regularly and used the Sanative Wash and now I have no more troubles that way."—Mrs. AL. HERZOG, 5722 Prescott Ave., St. Louis, Mo.

Because your case is a difficult one, doctors having done you no good, do not continue to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. It surely has cured many cases of female ills, such as inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, indigestion, dizziness, and nervous prostration. It costs but a trifle to try it, and the result is worth millions to many suffering women.

A Physician's Faith in Tuberculosis Medicine

"Have used it in several cases of tubercular glands of the neck, with excellent results every time. In one case it cost me $50, for the girl was put on it only until she could arrange to be operated, and in a wee, short time an operation was not needed. I suppose your records are just as fine as of old. You know my faith in the medicine."

Eckman's Alterative is the "medicine" referred to. Original of above letter on file at office of Eckman Mfg. Co., Philadelphia.

Eckman's Alterative is good for all Throat and Lung troubles, and is on sale in Charleroi by W. F. Heanings and other druggists. It can also be obtained at, or procured by, your local druggist. Ask for Booklet of Cured Cases or write for evidence to the Eckman Laboratory, Phila., Pa.

Pertaining to Fish.

Blessings on thee, little man! Gudishing when you can. Never mind the teacher's rule not to run away from school. Take your bait and alder pole and then hunt the deepest hole where the wary troutlets hide by the canyon streamlet's side. You'll get licked at home, of course, and you'll suffer great remorse, but when daddy sees your string he'll gasp and say, "By jing!" And his rod and reel he'd snatch and start out to make a catch when your jacket he doth tan. Blessings on you little man!—Los Angeles Express.

Clothes and the Man.

Man is in some sort a slave to his clothes, and there are many men who dislike wearing the same clothes on two consecutive days, more particularly the necktie. For the first two or three things you look at when you meet a man are his eyes and his necktie. And there is a sort of underlying consciousness as you face the morning world that your tie must be straight and clean and new. But to this end you must lay the cheap tie and throw it away with your sins before going to bed.—London Chronicle.

Your Reception Gown

—DRESSY FROCKS FOR—

Graduation Weddings Reception

There are quite a number of these Charming White Dresses, they are all very pretty made in the very latest styles—and the prices so vary that you can easily be suited at your price.

The dresses at $25.00 are made of fine grade of French mull, low neck and high neck, trimmed with the daintiest lace and insertion. Sleeves and neck are beautifully trimmed with lace insertion. You can buy at $18.50 and $20 some of the handsomest dresses of this season—so neat, so pretty, so dressy and new, that you will be delighted with them. These come in high and low necks and are most beautifully trimmed in lace and insertion.

The dresses you can buy here at $16.50, $15 and $13.50 are made well and have all the style of the higher priced dresses. They are made of fine mull and the lace and insertion trimming is of fine quality. These are suitable for any occasion—wedding, reception, commencement.

You will see here some of the prettiest dresses of the lot and at the low price of $10 and $12.50. We have tried to get these dresses to look just as well as the more expensive ones, and you shall be the judge. These are fine dresses and as handsome too as the expensive styles.

Then again we show a line of lower price dresses at $4.50, $5.00, $6.00, $6.50 and $7.00. Now you will buy a white dress—then come here—let us fit you—save all the worry of selecting hunting and worrying about a new white dress—We've been awful careful to get the proper dresses—and we assure you these are the latest and best styles direct from New York and are equally sure you will be pleased with your purchase.

One of Shaw's Criticisms

"Before fame came to him," said a playwright, "that great rival of mine, George Bernard Shaw, wrote theatrical criticisms for the London Saturday Review. Now, those were criticisms indeed. Nobody could praise a good play so beautifully as this critic. Nobody could roast a bad play so tellingly. Listen. Here is a sample."

And the playwright read:

"I am in a somewhat foolish position concerning a play at the Opera Comique, whither I was bidden this day week. For some reason I was not supplied with a program, so that I never learned the name of the play. At the end of the second act the play had advanced about as far as an ordinary dramatist would have brought it five minutes after the first rising of the curtain, or, say, as far as Ibsen would have brought it ten years before that event. Taking advantage of the second interval to stroll out into the Strand for a little exercise, I unfortunately forgot all about my business and actually reached home before it occurred to me that I had not seen the end of the play. Under these circumstances it would ill become me to dogmatize on the merits of the work or its performance. I can only offer the management my apologies."

Our Conscience as a Guide.

We are not without a guide. God has given us a conscience that is to be our guide. The captain of a ship has beside him the faithful compass, his guide. We have to have with us in the voyage of life our conscience as a guide that by it we may reach our harbor, the home God has prepared for us after death.—Rev. Thomas R. McCoy, Roman Catholic, Boston.

Hope That Spurs Us On.

The price of not becoming a Christian is the loss of joy and hope. All life is lived by hope. The business man consoles himself for his present condition with the hope of future activity. We have much to contend with in this life, and it is the hope of resurrection and eternal life that spurs us to our best efforts. It is by that hope that we are able to give our best efforts in this life.—Rev. F. E. Dark, Baptist, Portland, Ore.

The Wolf In Disguise.

Once upon a time a wolf who was going after the farmer's chickens took the advice of a fox and disguised himself in sheep's clothing.

"For," said the fox, "if the dogs see you they will take you for a harmless lamb and let you pass."

When the disguised wolf was near the chicken house he heard the dogs bark and saw them running toward him at the top of their speed.

"I am a fool," said the wolf. "For now the dogs think I am a lamb and have no fear of me. I will change my mind, get out of this incumbering clothing and make a winning fight."

But before he could get the garment off the dogs were upon him and took his life.

Moral.—It is easier to change your mind than your clothing.—New York Herald.

CHARLEROI HIGH WINS FIRST PLACE IN MEET

Local Boys Overbalance Monessen High School Athletes

MEDALS GIVEN WINNERS

College Time Made in the 220 Yard Run, and Association Record is Broken.

The Charlreoi High School won the annual High School Field meet on the local baseball grounds Saturday afternoon, de eating the Monesser High School track team by the score of 61 to 43 points. One association record was broken, that by Sharer Blythe, of the Charleroi High School in the 220 yard dash, who completed the course in 23 3 5 seconds. The other best record, run last year was 25 seconds

The following is the result of the field meet. First place except in the relay race was scored five points three for second, two for third, and one for fourth. In the relay race first place was accorded 10 points, and second six points. Gold, silver and bronze medals were given the individual winners, while the team winner was presented with the field meet pennant. This is the third consecutive season that the Charleroi High School has carried off first honors. The winners are given in the order in which they finished.

In the tally, M. is for Monessen and C. for Charleroi.

Standing broad jump—Myers, M. Kistler, C, Mitchell, M, Crabb, C. Distance 9 feet.

50-yard dash—Blythe, C., Mitchell, M. Myers, M, Nutt, C. Time 6 seconds.

Shot put—Primas, C, Clutter, C, Chester, C, Herron, M. Distance 31 feet 10 inches.

100 yard dash—Blythe, C, Clutter, C, Mitchell, M, Lermann, M. Time 11 seconds.

100-yard dash (open) -Wilson, C, Thomas, C. Time 11 seconds.

Running broad jump—Manown, M, Baker, M, Harry M, Leathers, M. Distance 16 feet 7 1-4 inches.

220 yard dash—Blythe, C, Mitchell, M, Clutter, C, Primas, C. Time 23 3-5 seconds.

High jump—Obdert, M, McLain, C, Wagner, M, Malcolm, C. Height, 4 feet 10 inches.

Pole vault—Kistler, C, Carson, C, Richards C, McLain C, Height 9 feet 2 inches.

Half Mile Relay—Charleroi team first, Blythe, Primas, Stahlman, Clutter, Monessen team second, Mitchell, Lerman, Baker, Ferren. Time 1:50.

By the above table it will be noticed that Charleroi took all honors in the pole vault. The four members of this team tied in the first contest and after the field meet contested for honors with the results as shown above. The meet record was 8 feet 2 inches high.

The referee was George W. Might, of Charleroi; the judges were W. S. Duncan, H. C. Herple, Monessen, and C. S. Batman, Charleroi, timers, Edwin W. Patton, of Charleroi, and C. J. Tannehill of Monessen, and the starter was Dr. G. H. Smith of Charlreoi.

Next Convention to be Held Here

C T. A. U. Will Convene in Charleroi on June 9 in Monthly Meeting

Partial arrangements were made yesterday at the monthly convention of the Catholic Total Abstinence Union of the Pittsburg Diocese, at Irwin, for the holding of the next convention in Charleroi, June 9. At this convention the Rt Rev. J. F. Regis Canevin, bishop of the Pittsburg diocese, will preside. Charles Fries went from Charleroi yesterday as a delegate to the Irwin convention.

HOSPITAL BENEFIT

Baseball Game Being Arranged Between Elks and Eagles Teams

Once again the baseball fans of Charleroi and vicinity will have the opportunity of seeing the "has-beens" in the part of ball playing, as there is to be a game played in the near future between a picked nine from the Elks and one from the Eagles lodges, the proceeds to go to the Monessen-Charleroi hospital. S. C. Todd of the Elks and Henry Wagner of the Eagles will be busy for the next few days trying out the members in order to get the best material in both lodges, and as soon as the lineup is completed the names of each player and his past record on the diamond will be published.

Col. A. P. Stewart will act as umpire, as he seems to be the only man who was able to hold them down the last time they crossed bats on the field, and while most of his decisions were rotten, he was able to make them stand with the help of a Smith and Wesson. Those who saw the game last year claim it was as good as a circus and that tickets should bring $5.00.

NEW AUDITORS APPOINTED FOR 1909 ACCOUNTS

Following the example of his colleague J. K. Mitchell, one of the county auditors who presented his resignation to the court last week, W. J. Anderson, the other majority auditor, did likewise, and his resignation was also accepted by the court. To fill the vacancy the court on Saturday appointed J. F. Bristor and J. K. Weir. The accounts of the county yet remain to be audited from the first of 1909 to October 1 of the same year, the time when County Controller Moffitt assumed control. C. R. Tilton, the minority auditor, has refused to audit the accounts, on the claim that the office of controller was unconstitutional. As the court sustained the act Mr. Tilton has not yet signified his intentions.

VIEWERS MEET TODAY TO ASSESS DAMAGES

Farmers Ask That Coal Company Reimburse Them for Causing Ground to Sink, Injuring Farms.

The viewers appointed some time ago by the court to assess damages alleged done by the Pittsburg and Westmoreland Coal company to farms in the vicinity of the Schoenberger mines, are making the view today, and will file their report with the court tomorrow. The Schoenberger mines are near Dolores, and it is of farms, where it is alleged great damage has been done by sinking in of the ground, that remuneration is claimed.

The viewers are Dr. E. E French, Dr. A N Booth, J. E Richardson, R. A. Johnston, William Headley, W F. Rison, J. A Wrignt, Charles McCormick, W. S. Holliday, J. G. McCormick and J. A. Huffman, all of Bentleyville.

Several farmers have banded together, it is stated, in asking that damages be assessed.

REV. FRONTZ PREACHES SERMON TO GRADUATES

Class of 1910, Charleroi High School, Hears Baccalaureate at Christ Lutheran Church Last Night.

At Christ Lutheran church last night the baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class of ten members, Charleroi High School, was preached by the pastor of the church, Rev. Chalmers E. Frontz. The class occupied with Superintendent James G Pentz, of the schools, and the three High School teachers, Principal J. R. Huston, Prof. George H. Cheeseman and Miss Mary Walters, two rows of seats near the front on the left side. The church was filled with friends and parents of the graduates.

Rev. Frontz chose as his theme "Grateful Acknowlegement of the Ages" He spoke of education in the olden times, of how the noted characters of Biblical times received their instructions and how they imparted it to others He said that it was due to each member of the graduating class to become a leader, instead of a follower, and that this being true, it was best to always have the highest ideals.

In his final utterances, Rev. Frontz told the members of the class that this was only the beginning. He besought them to work hard to accomplish much, and predicted if they did so much success in the battle to come

MOTHER OF CHARLEROI MERCHANT DIES AT HER HOME IN BROWNSVILLE

Mrs. Margaret Newcomer, 65 years old, the wife of Hamilton Newcomer, died at her home on Water street, South Brownsville, Saturday evening at 7.30 o'clock. The funeral was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock, from the late home and interment followed in the Redstone cemetery. Mrs. Newcomer is survived by her husband and seven children, one of the latter being C. R. Newcomer, a prominent shoe dealer of Charleroi. Others are E. N. Newcomer, of Redstone, H. L. Newcomer at home, Mrs. Charles Crawford and Mrs Charles Stewart of Luzerne, Mrs. Matthew Storey, South Brownsville, and Miss Lottie at home. Mrs. Newcomer was a member of the Central Presbyterian church, of South Brownsville, the pastor of which, Rev. Charles R. Harmon, officiated at the funeral.

MANY ACCEPTANCES TO ALUMNI BANQUET HAVE BEEN RECEIVED

Several acceptances to the High School alumni banquet to be held at the Monier Hotel Thursday evening, have been recieved by the committee arranging the affair, and the present indications are that there will be a larger gathering of graduates at the affair than ever before at any similar affair. The members of the 1910 class who will receive their diplomas on Wednesday evening will be honor guests.

CHURCH GIVES UP PROJECT TO BUILD FOR TIME BEING

St. Jerome's Congregation will Increase Amount in Building Fund

ENTERTAINMENT PLANNED

Various Societies of Church will Take Turns in Holding Benefit Affairs

Rev. W. D. Fries of St. Jerome's Catholic congregation yesterday announced to his congregation that the proposed new church building would not be constructed this year. It was intended to have work started on the superstructure of the building some time this month, or about the first of June.

The reason for the giving up of the plans for the construction of the upper part of the church at the present time is that the treasury is not in as good shape as it will be at some future time. The project was not considered advisable just now.

The Knights of Columbus will within a short time give an entetainment, the proceeds to go to the building fund, and this entertainment will be followed by others given by other societies of the church. In this way it is hoped to raise the surplus in the treasury so that the building project will not be greatly delayed.

Many Enjoy Day at Eldora Park

Louhi Band Gives First Sunday Concert, and Good Crowd is Attracted

Many took advantage of a visit to Eldora Park yesterday, when it was open for the first Sunday during the season. The Louhi band of Monessen furnished special music during the afternoon and evening, and the weather being exceptionally fine, those who were at the pleasure resort had a day of much enjoyment.

MANY SEE THE COMET

Was Plainly Visible to the Naked Eye Early Last Evening

Many Charleroi people got a view of the comet last night for the first time since its appearance. The comet appeared in the western sky, and was best seen about 9 o'clock in the evening. Many parties made trips on the hill where they were easily able to distinguish the visitor with the naked eye. It is expected that tonight will be a particularly good evening to see the comet, although it and the earth are saying their last good-byes. Tonight it will be best seen about 9 o'clock although it rises at 8:30 o'clock. An eclipse of the moon will aid in dimming the sky so that the light from Halley's phenonmenon will show plainly. The comet cannot be well seen from down town.

MEMORIAL SERVICES AT EPISCOPAL CHURCH

Rev. L W. Shey, pastor of St. Mary's Episcopal church yesterday morning conducted memorial srevices for the late King Edward VII of England. Special prayers were offered for the bereaved nation, and Rev. Shey preached a sermon on the life of the late ruler. The church was draped in mourning. In several other Charleroi pulpits prayers were offered for the bereaved nation.

How to Secure Highest Quality.

It only requires domestic rosin, benzine, any kind of so called linseed oil, with ordinary skill to make a varnish that is beautiful when fresh.

But to get the same beauty in material that will at the same time be lasting, requires skill in the making and more expensive material.

It makes but one kind—the beautiful—durable kind. You will find it at T. P. Grant's. CHI-NAMEL 104

COMMITTEE WILL MAKE REPORTS AT MEETING TUESDAY

Everybody is invited to the meeting tomorrow night to be held in the council chamber at 8 o'clock when a report of all committees who have been appointed on the Fourth of July celebration will be heard, and it is hoped that all who can will make an effort to be there. At this time the finance committee will make a report, and all other committees will be instructed as to what will be expected of them. Other committees will be appointed, and the presence is needed of every citizen in the town, not only at this meeting, when all can offer suggestions, but each day every one can boost Charleroi and the big Fourth she is going to have. Every one can help some and the town needs that strong pull together at this time in order to make the occasion all that has been aimed for it.

Already the advertising committee has sent word all over the county asking the people to come to the town on the Fourth where they do things and Charleroi can't afford to disappoint them when they come. All promises will be fulfilled if every citizen will lend a helping hand and it is to be hoped all who are interested in the town's wellfare will come to this meeting.

Ice Cream and Strawberry Social

The Sunday school of St. Mary's Protesant Episopal church will hold an Ice Cream and Strawberry Social in the Sunday School rooms, corner Lookout and Sixth street on Wednesday evening, May 25. Kennedy's Inconsistency.

J. L. Kennedy, who is opposing Congressman J. K. Tener for the renoimnaton for Congress, announces that he is a Republican, thoroughly in sympathy with and in favor of the Roosevelt policies At the same time he anatamatizes what he calls "Cannonism." In other words he wouih have the voters believe that he is an insurgent, who will vote and work with the Democrate party to oppose and embarrass President Taft's administration.

In order to gain support Mr. Kennedy insinuates that he is not in accord with Presient Taft's policies, and is therefore only half a Republican.

Here is where Mr. Kennedy shows his inconsistency and unreliability. He professes to be for the Roosevelt policies and opposed to "Cannonism," notwithstanding that President Roosevelt relied solely upon Speaker Cannon as his whip to put his policies through. Without the big stick of Uncle Joe President Roosevelt's big stick was insufficent to put through his measures that the people so much admire. President Taft's policies are but a continuation of President Roosevelt's policies. The latter blazed the way, and the former is endeavoring to carry them out all along the line. If the Republican party is to dominate, the country does not want a Representative who openly announces that he will play into the hands of the enemy.

ELECTRIC SPARKS

It is not only sore arms that come to a woman from carpet beating. Sometimes she contracts the sore throat from telling about it.

It is stated that Jack Johnston has agreed not to take his automobile into the ring when he meets Jeffries, but he will likely have it convenient so he can use it to be hauled away in.

AN AUTHOR'S START.

When Marion Crawford Began His Career as an Author.

Marion Crawford I had known since he was a lad of fourteen years I, too, was a youngster in those days. We [illegible] in a New Jersey town and he came there to visit his aunt, Mrs. Adolphe Maillard, a sister of Mrs Julia Ward Howe. Although he came from Italy he dressed as an English lad, with high hat, Eton jacket, wide collar and long trousers You can imagine the sensation that he made in that quiet New Jersey town We had had kings and princes as our neighbors, but a young boy in a high hat was unknown to us and therefore much more of a novelty. From those days which were filled with youthful escapades, I did not see Frank Crawford, as he was then called, until he was a full grown man and had knocked about the world a bit His uncle, the well known Sam Ward brought him to the office of the Critic, then consisting of a single small room over Daniell's dry goods store in Broadway New York "This lad wants to be a writer," said his Uncle Sam "I wish that you would give him a chance to learn the business" We gave him the chance, not only for old times' sake but because we liked his looks "That [illegible] remarked after he left the office. So we let him write He wrote book reviews, editorials and even poetry, and after that he wrote 'Mr Isaacs" You know the rest From that on it was easy enough. He won out and we knew that, though we had given him the chance he wanted at the time that he wanted it, he would have found it quick enough anywhere else But he never forgot what he chose to regard as a favor—Jeannette L. Gilder in Putnam's

ONE BUSINESS REFORM.

Brought About by Frank Statements From Former Employees.

If the manager of a business institution knew all that his employees know about the details of the business many things would be different. The manager of a large mercantile house recently conceived the idea of writing a personal letter to every employee who had left the house during the last five years, inviting a frank statement of the reason for leaving. The former employees now expecting neither censure nor favor, were very frank and explicit and as a rule wrote letters that could not fail to command respectful attention One man told how hard he had worked to support his mother and how, when he asked for an increase, he was shifted back and forth between different superiors for several weeks without having his request rejected or acceded to and he grew tired and sought another position Another told of the impositions of the department manager and of his inability to get relief from a nagging disposition which was taking the heart out of hundreds of other men in his department. Many points of obvious mismanagement were brought to light which had virtually driven away good men who had been educated to the business The manager has been busy ever since instituting reforms based upon the information he received.—Collier's Weekly

The Picturesque Cowboy.

I recall one [illegible] a celebrated artist of the east who does western things It depicts a cowboy at Rest." He is lying on his stomach in the sun his chin in his hands His horse stands nearby, with the reins thrown over the horn of the saddle. Now, a cowboy in the daytime, well filled with beans and canned tomatoes, would not lie thus, and, above all, he would not leave his horse standing thus. He would pull the reins down over the horse's head and let them hang, elsewise his cow horse would depart I recall yet another picture of a faithful cowpuncher who with his trusty rifle defends himself from behind his dead horse, which he uses as a fortress. The dead horse is about four feet and a half through sidewise—excellent for a fortress, but a trifle wide for a thin flanked cow-horse It would be useless to point out any detail like this to any earnest artist of today Worse than useless would it be to suggest that a cowpuncher is the laziest created thing for in art he must do perpetual stunts of "action."—Collier's Weekly.

Horse Sense.

A horse is so constructed by nature that he has no desire to do anything which will injure his health. He walks around whatever is not good for him and without a struggle. But man is so constructed that whatever is not good for him he wants to do. He eats too much, and he eats too fast. He drinks while eating, and there is nothing proper that he does without an effort. Why this distinction in favor of a horse? It may be said that a horse has only instinct, while a man has reason, which he should use. It is a pity that man was not given more instinct and less reason.—Atchison Globe.

HAY'S PREDICTION.

"I Expect to Be Comfortably Dead In 1908," He Wrote.

A very interesting letter referring to President Lincoln just after his first inauguration and written by John Hay is dated Washington, 1861, and says in part:

"If there is anything which more than all causes me to regret the intolerable press of business about the president's office it is the impossibility of answering the letters of my best friends I have positively not had a moment's leisure since we arrived in this city. The throng of office seekers is absolutely fearful. They come at daybreak and still are coming at midnight.

"You know that in anything I can do you can command me, but you over rate my influence. Mr Lincoln positively refuses to make any recommendations for positions in the department, he rejects the entreaties even of his most intimate friends and relatives."

In another letter, Washington, Dec 12, no year, Hay says

"Walter Noyes was appointed on the recommendation of two Rhode Island senators, Burnside and Anthony I did not pay McKinley's debts I never called him William in my life, nor did [illegible] me John Our intercourse has always been of the most formal character I have absolutely no claim on him for myself or friends."

And in another letter Hay writes from Washington:

"I am old, sick and busy, and I have not a moment at my disposition besides what is occupied by my daily tasks * * * Do not talk about anything so ridiculous as my being a candidate for the presidency. I shall never hold an office after this, and I expect to be comfortably dead by 1908."

As will be recalled, Secretary Hay died July 1, 1905.—New York Times

Eluding the Officers.

Here is an amusing description of one of Balzac's periods of impecuniosity Merv, the poet, a great friend of Balzac, was an inveterate gambler and rarely left the card table before daybreak. His way lay past the Cafe de Paris, and for four consecutive mornings he had met Balzac strolling leisurely up and down dressed in a pantalon a pieds (trousers not terminating below the ankle, but with feet in them like stockings) and frock coat with velvet facings The second morning Mery felt surprised at the coincidence the third he was puzzled, the fourth he could hold out no longer and asked Balzac the reason of these nocturnal perambulations roundabout the same spot

Balzac put his hand in his pocket and produced an almanac showing that the sun did not rise before 3 50 "I am being tracked by the officers of the tribunal de commerce and obliged to hide myself during the day, but at this hour I am free and can take a walk, for as long as the sun is not up they cannot arrest me."

Milk on a Stick.

In winter time milk goes to the buyer in a chunk instead of a quart, says a Glasgow paper The people in Siberia buy their milk frozen, and for convenience it is allowed to freeze about a stick, which comes as a handle to carry it by The milkman leaves one chunk or two chunks as the case may be, at the houses of his customers The children in Irkutsk instead of crying for a drink of milk, cry for a bite of milk The people in winter time do not say, "Be careful not to spill the milk," but "Be careful not to break the milk" Broken milk is better than spilled milk, though, because there is an opportunity to save the pieces. A quart of frozen milk on a stick is a very formidable weapon in the hand of an angry man or boy, as it is possible to knock a person down with it Irkutsk people hang their milk on hooks instead of putting it in pans, though, of course, when warm spring weather comes on they have to use the pans or pails as the milk begins to melt and drop down the hooks

Yarmouth's Narrow Street.

Kitty Witches row, Great Yarmouth, can justly claim to be the narrowest street in the world, the entrance at one end being only twenty-nine inches and at the other fifty-six inches It gives some idea of the width when one mentions that neighbors can shake hands and put out each other's candles across the street! Why these rows have been so constructed has given rise to a good deal of discussion. Some writers give the reason that when there was a very high tide the water might flow through them; others, in the event of an invasion they would prove an excellent means of defense or that the ground plans of the rows were suggested by the fishermen's nets, which, spread on the dunes to dry, had a narrow pathway left between them, which represented the rows. Yarmouth has 145 rows, and their total length exceeds seven miles. Kitty Witches being the most interesting and the narrowest of all.

Hard to Choose.

"Why can't she make a choice between her suitors?"

"Well, one of them is a press agent His language is very attractive But the other is a traveling salesman, and he [illegible] as if she were a dog buyer."—Kansas City Journal.

August Valentour For Assembly

In anouncing his candidacy for the State Assembly, August Valentour "shied his castor into the ring" of political preference without first consulting any of the so called leaders or factions of the party to which he has given allegiance since attaining manhood. Always a Rebublican of the most pronounced type by his disinterestedness and independence and force he has been a factor in shaping the policy of the party in this county, and has earned for himself the respect and prestige that goes with loyal and capable service in any cause.

Mr. Valentour has been a resident of Washington County for thirty six years. He began life as a digger of coal, and by enterprise, economy and thrift he has risen step by step, until he has become one of the county's men of affairs.

His career has been one of continued progress and advancement. In 1874 Mr. Valentour entered the Walnut Hill mine at Midway and there dug coal for two years. He left the mine for farming and timbering in Fayette county, but soon returned to the mine again, this time also in the Panhandle district working as a miner until 1881. After spending two years in the cotton and timber industres of Mississippi he returned to McDonald July 4, 1883, was electted checkweighman by the miners of W. P. Rend's Laural Hill No. 1, later entered Jumbo from where he was dischargegd for interestng himself in the Fourth Pool miners who were then on a strike, by collecting money for the amelioration of their destitute condition. At this time there was no organiaztion among the miners of this locality, the nearest lodge of Kights of Labor was at Imperial and Mr. Valentour identiefid himsef with it.

Following this discharge he left McDonald and found employment in a store in Shadyside, Pittsburg. He was soon afterwards offered a position by J. D. Sauters, owner of the Briar Hill mine. This was accepted and in 1891 he secured a clothing and furnishing establishment in McDonald. He abandened this and acquired the Donahoo bazar which now bears his name Appointed a notary public, Mr Valentour, because of his wide acquaintance, especially among the French and Beligans, was required to draw up a great many legal papers and documents. This led to much research in the laws of the State and Nation as well as a reading up of the laws of France and Belgium until he has become one of the best informed lay readers of law in this locality and his advice is sought and highly valued by the French and Belgian residents here and up the Monongahela river.

Mr. Valentour has always been prominently identified with public entreprises and with the upbuilding of McDonald. When the town was first incorporated he was elected to the borough council. Afterwards he served a term on the school board. He is at present a councilman, being the chairman of the police committee and a member of the street committee. He is also the party chairman of the first precinct of McDonald, where he resides.

Mr. Valentour does not come before the voters as a candidate for financial gain or personal aggrandizement, but for the common people whom he has for support and hopes to represent.

He would go to Harrisburg as a represenative of the county absolutely free from entanglements of a political nature. He is aggressively in favor of public improvements, especially good roads. The welfare of all who toil with their hands is very dear to him and legislation affecting the interests of mine workers will receive his profoundest attention if elected. He believes the greatest glory of State is the education of its people and he therefore is in favor of the best public school system obtainable.

A Woman's Greatest Joy

Who is it can tell me the greatest joy that comes in a woman's life. Is it when she first wins a lover? Or becomes some good man's wife? Some say a woman's greatest joy—her first real taste of pleasure—is the clasp of tiny baby hands, the kiss of her new born treasure. But it's hard to know her true answer, for women have many minds, and the world is full of women whose likes are of many kinds; but there's one thing in this busy world that gives all women pleasure, they'll all say that Chi-Namel for woodwork is a treasure. It does not make the wrist tired to apply Chi-Namel Varnish—and there's no need to fear brush marks or laps on large surfaces. To one who has used the ordinary grades of varnish it's a wonder. All colors and all size packages. Sold by T.P. Grant. 4

WHEN THE CAT GOT MAD.

Her Digestion Wouldn't Work—Same Thing Happens to Humans.

Horace Fletcher of mastication fame talked recently to the New York League For Political Education about the influence of mental states upon digestion and left some people in greater despair than ever about the attainment of dietetic righteousness. For it is not enough to chew, it seems One must also cultivate faith, hope and charity and cease to worry about one's rent. All this has been conclusively proved by the use of the X ray on cats. Pussy is allowed to get "good and hungry" Mr Fletcher stated, and then she is permitted to eat as much as she wants of some food that she likes, the food being stained with a substance which doesn't detract from its flavor, but which renders it opaque to the X rays She is now placed beneath the X rays, and, taking it for a fire, she stretches herself out in great content to digest her dinner, the course of which can be traced through the digestive apparatus by its opaqueness Everything goes along smoothly until the attention of the cat is distracted Then the process is delayed, but if the cat is annoyed and gets angry enough to spit it stops altogether and does not [illegible] after the cat has regained its composure.

The moral is obvious. Avoid all perturbations of the spirit if you want your food to digest, even after you have chewed it. Mr. Fletcher seems to think that this is quite simple.

Hatred, Mr. Fletcher stated, is the most fatal of all the passions, hurting the hater infinitely more than the object against which it is directed, and millions of children, he is convinced, may have been killed by a sharp word spoken to the mother at breakfast, the mental disturbance curdling her milk and rendering it poisonous. But fortunately he does not consider it necessary to give oneself up to the business of digestion, as the cat does under the X rays

"If you fletcherize," he said, "you can do the most strenuous physical and mental work immediately after eating."

MORE PINKHAM CURES

Added to the Long List due to This Famous Remedy.

Oronogo, Mo.—"I was simply a nervous wreck. I could not walk across the floor without my heart fluttering and I could not even receive a letter. Every month I had such a bearing down sensation, as if the lower parts would fall out. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done my nerves a great deal of good and has also relieved the bearing down. I recommended it to some friends and two of them have been greatly benefited by it."—Mrs. Mae McKinney, Oronogo, Mo.

Another Grateful Woman.

St. Louis, Mo.—"I was bothered terribly with a female weakness and had backache, bearing down pains and pains in lower parts. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound regularly and used the Sanative Wash and now I have no more troubles that way."—Mrs. AL. HENZOG, 5722 Prescott Ave., St. Louis, Mo.

Because your case is a difficult one, doctors having done you no good, do not continue to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. It surely has cured many cases of female ills, such as inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, indigestion, dizziness, and nervous prostration. It costs but a trifle to try it, and the result is worth millions to many suffering women.

Pertaining to Fish.

Blessings on thee, little man! Go a-fishing when you can. Never mind the teacher's rule not to run away from school. Take your bait and alder pole and then hunt the deepest hole where the wary troutlets hide by the canyon streamlet's side. You'll get licked at home, of course, and you'll suffer great remorse, but when daddy sees you string he'll gasp and say, "By jing!" And his rod and reel he'll snatch and ... to make a catch when your jacket he doth tan. Blessings on you little man!—Los Angeles Express.

Clothes and the Man.

Man is in some sort a slave to his clothes, and there are many men who dislike wearing the same clothes on two consecutive days, more particularly the necktie. For the first two or three things you look at when you meet a man are his eyes and his neck tie. And there is a sort of underlying consciousness as you face the morning world that your tie must be straight and clean and new. But to this end you must buy the cheap tie and throw it away with your sins before going to bed.—London Chronicle.

One of Shaw's Criticisms.

"Before fame came to him," said a playwright, "that great rival of mine, George Bernard Shaw, wrote theatrical criticisms for the London Saturday Review. Now, those were criticisms indeed. Nobody could praise a good play so beautifully as this critic. Nobody could roast a bad play so tellingly. Listen. Here is a sample."

And the playwright read:

"I am in a somewhat foolish position concerning a play at the Opera Comique, whither I was bidden this day week. For some reason I was not supplied with a program, so that I never learned the name of the play. At the end of the second act the play had advanced about as far as an ordinary dramatist would have brought it five minutes after the first rising of the curtain, or, say, as far as Ibsen would have brought it ten years before that event. Taking advantage of the second interval to stroll out into the Strand for a little exercise, I unfortunately forgot all about my business and actually reached home before it occurred to me that I had not seen the end of the play. Under these circumstances it would ill become me to dogmatize on the merits of the work or its performance. I can only offer the management my apologies."

Our Conscience as a Guide.

We are not without a guide. God has given us a conscience that is to be our guide. The captain of a ship has beside him the faithful compass, his guide. We have to have with us in the voyage of life our conscience as a guide that by it we may reach our harbor, the home God has prepared for us after death.—Rev. Thomas R. McCoy, Roman Catholic, Boston.

Hope That Spurs Us On.

The price of not becoming a Christian is the loss of joy and hope. All life is filled by hope. The business man consoles himself for his present condition with the hope of future activity. We have much to contend with in this life, and it is the hope of resurrection and eternal life that spurs us to our best efforts. It is by that hope that we are able to give our best efforts in this life.—Rev. F. E. Dark, Baptist, Portland, Ore.

The Wolf In Disguise.

Once upon a time a wolf who was going after the farmer's chickens took the advice of a fox and disguised himself in sheep's clothing.

"For," said the fox, "if the dogs see you they will take you for a harmless lamb and let you pass."

When the disguised wolf was near the chicken house he heard the dogs bark and saw them running toward him at the top of their speed.

"I am a fool," said the wolf. "For now the dogs think I am a lamb and have no fear of me. I will change my mind, get out of this incumbering clothing and make a winning fight."

But before he could get the garment off the dogs were upon him and took his life.

Moral.—It is easier to change your mind than your clothing.—New York Herald.

Use of Charcoal.

A small dish of charcoal kept in the meat larder will keep the articles sweet and wholesome. Charcoal is a great disinfectant. A dish of charcoal kept in the icebox will also keep it smelling sweet and free from odors.
